Reducing Wealth.
An Intelligent Wife.
No Ford Bolsheviks.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

The South is planning to cut cotton production one-half. There seems no other way to raise the price of cotton to a point that will pay cost of production.

But there ought to be some better way of solving the great problem, and the government ought to find it.

What would happen to the world if farmers cut down the production of silk, beef, wheat and corn 50 per cent, to make a living?

Or what would happen if all factories of clothing, pianos, steel, everything, cut production one-half?

The world needs every pound of cotton the South can produce, and three times as much. Hundreds of millions are nearly naked. It is simply a question of adjusting credits.

Cotton is a crop that can be kept indefinitely, that will always have its value, like gold or silver. There could be enough intelligent business ability and good will in the government to save the South from great loss and sacrifice and the world from the loss of cotton, every pound of which it needs.

It should not be forgotten by government, which is responsible for labor unrest, and other disturbing possibilities, that to cut cotton production 50 per cent means cutting employment in the South at least 50 per cent. "Other crops" will not take up the slack.

And cutting down the demand for labor means lowering the wages of those that are hired; "supply and demand" takes care of that.

It is the big beginning of a vicious circle, and government intelligence should find some way to avoid it. In such a case an intelligent autocrat could say to his slaves, "You go ahead and produce the cotton. I'll attend to financing it until it is distributed."

Democratic government should be at least as efficient as intelligent autocracy.

Mrs. Oren Fowler Shearer, intelligent San Francisco lady, thought well of her husband Owen, and had great respect for her most intimate lady friend, Mrs. Lily Fowler Ferris.

Realizing that she must say goodbye to life and to her husband, Mrs. Shearer bequeathed her husband to her good friend, Mrs. Ferris, and Mrs. Ferris is now the second Mrs. Shearer.

How much more decent, human and generally respectable this is than a last will and testament in which a man so often says in substance, "To my faithful and beloved wife, so-and-so, I leave so many millions, but if she wants to be happy and marry again, she can't have a nickel."

Such a will puts a premium on immorality, and proves that the husband who makes the will never deserved a good wife. That kind of a husband is only a short distance from the man in India that had his living widow burned with his dead body, or the African savage that had an assortment of wives slaughtered and thrown into the grave with him.

Wise Mrs. Shearer at least knew just how old and how pretty the second Mrs. Shearer would be, and she picked out a lady that would take good care of her linen, all of which is comforting to a lady about to die.

Foolish gossip in Detroit announced that 50,000 of Henry Ford's workers were trying to seize his plant, work it themselves, and introduce Bolshevism.

The 50,000 simply came to be paid off, on the temporary closing of the plant. One solitary policeman easily took care of the Bolsheviks, for it had not existence.

Henry Ford, long before Bolsheviks was invented paid his men the highest wages voluntarily, without strikes or demands, and at the same time made his profits by huge production, giving full value to the public.

Bolshevism won't take root and Soviets won't grow where workers are well paid, and the public fairly treated. If Bolsheviks ever disturbs this country it will be due to a type of man different from Henry Ford.

WORLD EXPLORATION IN 1921.

Man is a curious animal. He wants to know. Patriotism, money or fame may be reasons back of most of the exploring expeditions in the world, but the curiosity of the human race is a compelling act. For almost five years, due to the great war, there has been little done in the way of exploring and scientific research. The brave, hardy men were engaged in even a more important task. But now there has been a reawakening.

As a result no less than sixteen different expeditions have been organized for work in 1921 and longer in the meteorological, zoological, ethnological, geological and biological fields. Six groups will penetrate the polar fields, four will find their way into African wildernesses, and others will plot painstakingly to shrines far hidden and long hidden away.

A British Antarctic expedition hopes to circumnavigate the Antarctic sea, dash to the South Pole, locate new whaling grounds, and discover gold, silver, coal and ruby fields. Captain Raoul Amundsen is already away up north of Asia, waiting for his ship to be carried through to the pole by the ice pack in the spring. Two men are now on a 4,000-mile journey in a 50-foot boat on the Kolyma river, in Siberia. Knud Rasmussen is preparing for a five-year trip to study Eskimo tribes. Donald MacMillan, one of the men with Perry when he discovered the North Pole, plans to circumnavigate Baffinland in 1921.

Besides, there are explorers getting ready to do scientific work in China and Tibet, in the Pacific Islands, in Ecuador and Peru, in Mexico, in Nova Zembla, and last but not least, a group of American scientists, commanded by Henry Russell, of Columbia University, and Dr. David Starr Jordan, of Leland Stanford University, proposes to explore the Amazon.

There may be some who will say,
"Why be so curious?" Well, it was just that curiosity that led Christopher Columbus onward, and, lacking that hump, the American people might have been a great deal longer getting here.

HOW TO BEAT THE DEATH RATE

There now occur annually in the United States about 1,250,000 deaths.
And the surgeon general of the Public Health Service, H. S. Cummings, is authority for the assertion that of this number 100,000 could be prevented easily "by the application of available medical knowledge." The saving of 100,000 lives in a year means much.
It means as many people as all who live in such cities as Duluth, a couple of Wheelings, Tacoma, and San Antonio. Something really worth while.

The surgeon general declares nearly everyone of the 15,000 deaths from diphtheria could be prevented if antitoxin treatment were resorted to, or permitted those susceptible to diphtheria
as shown by cultures to be immunized.
He says that nearly all of 10,000 deaths a year from typhoid fever could be prevented if communities would only be sure that their milk and water supplies are pure, and if but the simplest precautions were taken in homes where typhoid is found. Of the 400 deaths from smallpox in the year, he declares all could have been saved

had each been vaccinated.

"The expense of this lifesaving through prevention and control of disease is slight," Surgeon General Cummings says, when contrasted with the saving affected. Money spent in this direction is most profitable form of investment, a most urgent need of this reconstruction period."

The surgeon general only reiterates that hundreds of practicing physicians have said time and again in their fight for the public health.

WHAT IS ENOUGH?

Newspaper asks its readers: "How much is enough?"

Well, Tolstoy tells of a man who,
having a small farm, was not happy until he acquired a larger one, elsewhere. He was prospering there when he heard that the Bashgirs, a tribe on the Russian steppes, were selling land cheaply. So he went and was told that for a certain sum he could have as much land as he could walk around from sunrise to sunset. If he failed to return to the starting point before sunset, he would lose both his money and the land.

Early next morning he began walking rapidly, taking along a hoe to mark the boundaries. He walked in a wide circuit, for he desired to take in as much land as possible. And his greed led him far astray that he was still a long way from the starting point when he observed the sun had begun to set. He started to run in order to reach the goal before dark, lost both money and the land. The last of the sun was disappearing under the horizon when he arrived, breathless,
at the starting point, and fell dead.

And so, Tolstoy concludes with ironic humor, the man's effort netted him just seven feet of land—a grave.

The figure of the frantic man rushing to reach his goal before sunset typifies most of us in the folly of our discontent. He didn't know when he had enough. And how many of us do?

Few men can answer satisfactorily to themselves, the question: "How much is enough?" Many men pursue
"Enough" to the end of their days and never catch up with it because they don't know when they find it."

OBSERVATIONS.

SUCH IS LIFE

Paumotan pearl divers of the South
Sea Islands know how to handle sharks. They have to learn early in life, else the sharks acquire the habit of dining on divers.

Are the natives foolish enough to kill the shark?

Do they hope to drive away the man
by slaughtering a few of them?

Do they treat sharks as civilized folks treat land sharks of the profiteering type?

No, gentle reader, they do no such thing.

Finally the news gets around among the sharks that this or that particular spot is not safe for a shark to loaf in. Undoubtedly the mutilated sharks convey the information to their brothers. By the time a dozen sharks have been branded even a child can go down to the ocean floor and pick up shells unmolested by sharks. The sharks are swimming for dear life for a place where people don't handle 'em so roughly.

They know, so they say, that you can't scare a shark by killing another shark.

When these ignorant Paumotans find a new pearl fishing place they go about the shark problem in a thoroughly uncivilized manner.

First the gang of divers capture a shark. But they take good care not to kill the wolf on the seas. All they do to the shark is to mutilate it in the most horrible manner, yet not going far enough to kill the shark.
They saw off the tail, a fin, and decorate Mister Shark in other ways. Then they turn him free. Another shark is similarly decorated. And others.

Wonder if the same thing wouldn't work with land sharks?

That'd quickly convince 'em how unsafe (for them) sharking is.

But only a savage Paumotan pearl diver could think up such a fine idea as that!

Triple Cities Are Honored; Concert at Beach Tonight

Miss Lenora Sparks, who opens the 24 number entertainment course at the Auditorium this evening is a soprano artist of international reputation. It is not often that she gives a song outside the Metropolitan Opera house, New York, and this community is certainly to be congratulated upon securing such unusual talent for their entertainment. There is every reason to hope that Miss Sparks will be greeted with a well filled house upon her first appearance here. In speaking of her recent appearance in New York the Tribune of that city commented as follows:

"It was evident long before Miss Sparks had sung the first group that her true vocation lies not in the world of opera, but in the intimate region of song recital. Miss Sparks sang everything well and some things superbly. In all of these the clarity of her enunciation, the uniformity of her scale and the purity of her tone were finely evident; while when necessary she displayed an emotional warmth which was unexpected to those who had known her only in opera."

Of her appearance in Washington, D. C., the Times of that city said:

"The bright particular star of the evening was Lenora Sparks who gave the famous "Vissi d'Arte" aria from "Tosca," the walse song from "Bohème" and several other numbers and received an enthusiastic welcome. Her voice is of lovely quality. She sings with perfect ease, filled the great ballroom without trouble and was repeatedly encored."

When she was heard in London the Daily Telegraph of that city said:

"Miss Lenora Sparks possesses a powerful soprano voice of very agreeable quality, which she uses with ease and certainty and she succeeded in making an excellent impression. That Miss Sparks can impart remarkable feeling and fervor to her singing was shown in her rendering of Santuzza's impassioned air, "Vol lo sapete," from "Cavalleria Rusticana." Noting the artist's skill and resources, the audience recalled and applauded her lustily."

TIMELY TOPIC OF THE OPEN FORUM ON SUNDAY

It is the hope of President Robert S. Holmes of the Open Forum that a large crowd will be attracted to the Auditorium next Sunday afternoon to hear Dr. Samuel Zane Battin of Philadelphia discuss the all important subject, "Can Existing Industrial Strife Be Ended Without a Revolution?" Mr. Holmes says that in view of the fact that there are now in the United States at least two and a quarter million people out of employment that this is a topic that should interest everybody and at this particular time. He has data showing that in Detroit alone there are 300,000 idle white in New York, Akron, Chicago and other manufacturing centers the numbers are very large.

ST. DUNSTAN DAY OBSERVED BY THE D. A. R. AT BEACH

St. Dunstan day was most appropriately observed by the Abigail Bartholomew chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at its regular monthly meeting, together with many visiting daughters.

Chapter members, their guests and many visiting daughters were most charmingly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Holmes in Halifax avenue. Mrs. Holmes is the vice-regent of the local chapter.

During a brief business session with the regent, Mrs. W. E. Hitchcock, presiding, the following were chosen delegates to the state conference to be held in Miami on January 17, 18 and 19: Mrs. W. E. Hitchcock, Mrs. C. E. Gardner and Miss Alice L. Twitchell. Mrs. R. S. Holmes and Mrs. Perrin were elected alternates. The evening's program was rendered by Mrs. R. S. Holmes and Mrs. C. A. Fay, the subject being, "Sketches of Japanese Life and Customs." Both of these ladies, having spent some time in Japan, their informal talks were realistic and most interesting, and these were aided by exquisite views of places, people and especially the Japanese women, including descriptions of famous temples and anecdotes of the habits and personalities of the priests. Mrs. Fay giving the opening number touched upon the homes, characteristics of the people, striking features of the seasons and the flower calendar embodied in the names of the months.

Mrs. Holmes spoke of the temples, the three different religions—Shintoism, Buddhism and Confucianism—all different to degree, that one might embrace all three without any of the creeds conflicting. The program was varied, with Japanese songs charmingly given by Miss Emma Gage, Miss Alleene Foster and Miss Kathleen Brennan, who looked the picture of the fascinating Japanese girls in beautiful costumes.

Japanese refreshments were daintily served and was the opening of a happy social hour. The decorations were particularly artistic, being of bamboo, cherry tree branches in full bloom, forming an ideal background for the many Japanese art treasures belonging to the hostess.

Considerable laughter and amusement has been created in the circles of one of the big and popular hotels because a couple of the dining room girls came very near buying a perfectly good and reliable Hudson car for $2.50.

The young ladies were walking on Beach street when they noticed a fine Hudson car standing by the curb, marked "For Sale, Price $2.50. For Rent, Price 20¢." The girls were impressed that in these days of the H. C. L. this was a bargain not to be slightingly passed by. So they at once took possession of the car and patiently awaited the arrival of the owner. Soon a young man appeared having the bearing usual to the proud automobile owner. He saw the sign and at once grasped the situation that some wag had put the signs on the car, but he entered into the spirit of the game and asked the girls if they were thinking of buying. They said they were, and he began with his salesman ability to praise the car and to tell the young woman what a bargain it would be until, in fact, they became suspicious and informed him that there must be something wrong with the machine. He insisted there was not, but they would not be convinced, and so the owner was refused the small sum of $2.50 for his Hudson.

Headquarters of Tourist Club in Dixie Are Cozy

There is now real life in the tourists' headquarters at the Dixie hotel. Mrs. Anna Macy Griffith, the secretary in charge, is now giving her entire time to the care and entertainment of visitors as they arrive, giving them most graciously any and all information they may require. Within a few days this hotel will put in a telephone and then about every necessary convenience will be provided.

Here the registration books of the various states are in waiting for signatures, and every visitor should see that he or she is promptly and properly registered, not only with the home address, but also with the street number of their local address.

President Guy G. Bailey of the Chamber of Commerce has donated two daily newspapers for the use of the headquarters.

Attorney Harry A. Horn donated the registration books and a quantity of road maps covering many states. They are plenty of easy chairs, writing tables, a piano and comfortable davenport for the weary. In fact, everything appears "spick and span" and speaks of comfort.

Visitors are invited to call often and get acquainted with Mrs. Griffith, who will gladly extend them every possible courtesy.

Next Tuesday the Kentucky Club will hold a regular meeting at the headquarters. Kentuckians are requested to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Austin of Uniontown, Pa. have taken possession of the pleasant home of W. H. Courtney at 431 Grandview avenue, where they will doubtless spend a delightful season.

Wade H. Reed, Sr. of Washington, D. C., has joined his son here, Wade H. Reed, Jr., who has made a decided success of the business of the Triple City Tire company. The father will have a substantial interest in the business, but the son says he hopes to keep him more as an ornamental member of the firm than as a worker. For many years the senior Mr. Reed has been doing government contract work, having erected post offices and other public buildings in many parts of the country.

Annual Banquet of Palmetto Club at Clarendon Gorgeous Affair of Thursday Evening

On Thursday evening, at the Hotel Clarendon occurred one of the most brilliant social events that will be enjoyed in the Triple Cities this season. It was the occasion of the annual banquet of the Palmetto club when more than a hundred and fifty men and women were royally entertained. About eight o'clock the doors of the dining room were thrown open to the club members and their friends, and many flowers added to the natural beauty of the famous banquet room.

Dr. Robert McKay, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church, Daytona, offered a prayer preceding the banquet.

The feast from the fruit cocktail to the demi-tasse was perfect and perfectly served, and following this was presented a toast list. Mrs. M. L. Stanley, president of the Palmetto club, presided as toastmistress. After a few appropriate introductory remarks, Mrs. Stanley called upon Mrs. W. S. Jennings, of Jacksonville, to tell of the aims, aspirations and accomplishments of the women's clubs. Mrs. Jennings is first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and director of the home demonstration work of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in co-operation with State's Relation service of the Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Jennings, a very sweet and refined appearing woman, has had broad experience in club work and is well qualified to tell of the things accomplished by the women of the country. She told of the efforts of the women to lessen the illiteracy of the land; of their work in securing the passage of better and more wholesome laws; of the training of the boys and girls for better citizenship; of their work along the lines of Americanization and the general betterment of conditions. All who listened to her were convinced of the earnestness of her purpose and her faith in the work women are doing.

Mrs. Stanley next introduced Mrs. J. W. McCollum, state president of the Florida Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. McCollum has recently been appointed a member of the executive board of the training camp at Asheville, N. C. She is a very clever and witty speaker, self-assured and thoroughly at her ease, and has a good voice that carries well to the remotest corners of a large room.

She told some funny and pertinent stories after which in a more serious strain she told of the fraternal feeling that existed among club women; of the unity of their work and purpose. She said were you to visit women's clubs in the various states that you would find them—everywhere working along the same lines and for the same purpose as the Florida women are working.

She spoke of the power that the ballot had given to women and illustrated by telling of the incident of the murder of two women by a man of attractive personality and social standing. Through the machinations of friends and politics he was given a life's sentence instead of the death sentence. After five years these influences were about to accomplish his pardon when he would again be at liberty. The women of the state rebelled and a petition was passed from club to club which was generously signed, demanding that the murderer be kept behind the bars. The women petitioned with the power of the ballot back of them and as the result all efforts toward the pardon were abandoned and the womanhood of Florida had asserted its power in an uncertain way. Mrs. McCollum's home is in Gainesville.

Mrs. Henry Mitchell, past president of the Palmetto club, was next called upon and she responded to the toast.

"The Forecast of Women's Clubs." Mrs. Mitchell is one of the pioneer club women of the state. She told how the old time work incident to the home had been gradually taken out of the hands of the women by men and by factories and she said the woman of today was the same sweet and devoted wife and mother of yesterday, adjusting herself to new conditions. Mrs. Mitchell is much beloved by the club women of the three cities.

Mrs. Roland Stevens, of Daytona, told in a humorous vein of the "Seven Stages of Women."

The Rev. W. J. Lewis, pastor of the Congregational church of Daytona, was called upon by the toastmistress to tell "How Men May Co-operate With Women." Rev. Lewis reminded all the men present that they were in these days only husbands of their

Card Club Now Organized for Play at Casino

The organization of the Social Card Club was completed last evening at Casino Purseyne, election of officers and a committee for the drawing up of a constitution and by-laws being a part of the business transacted. Play at the Casino daily by tourists and residents is a new feature of this year's plan to give entertainment to the visitors to Daytona, and one that is greatly appreciated by them.

The following were elected officers of the Social club last evening:

President, M. L. Mather, of Springfield, Ill.; vice president, Mrs. Evaline Stillman, of Westerley, R. I.; secretary, Miss Louise Doran, of Rockford, Ill., and treasurer, S. Freund, of Valparaiso, Ind.

The officers appointed a committee to look after organization matters for the club, following which play was indulged in for the balance of the evening.

The club will hold its next session Tuesday evening at the Casino, at which time anyone is cordially welcomed to join the club by the payment of a small entrance fee.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell L. Hunt of Daytona Beach, announce the arrival at their home Thursday afternoon of a lovely eight-pound daughter. Little Bettie Louise is the granddaughter of W. D. Hunt of the Breakers Hotel.

Late Mrs. Usher, Popular Daytona Girl, Buried Today

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Elsie Reid Usher were held at the parlor of Baggett & Wetherby this afternoon, interment being made in Pinewood. The death of Mrs. Usher was especially sad, as she had been a bride of Samuel H. Usher by three months, when death came suddenly Wednesday morning, in an Orlando hospital following an operation for wives and that it was a far cry from the time of Paul and his admonition that "women keep silent in the church." Everywhere now the voice of woman is heard and her influence felt. He said in all seriousness that one of the best ways to co-operate with the women of the Palmetto club was for the men to have a club that would mean to the men what the Palmetto club means to the women; not a "smoker," where men could gather to chat and pass away time, but a club that would sharpen their intellects and work along lines of public betterment and uplift.

After the feasting and the "toasting" the party was invited to the ball room where they were much entertained by the artistic dancing of Mlle. Manuel, who is the guest of Mrs. H. H. Lowes of Daytona. Mlle. Manuel is grace incarnate and everyone was delighted with her performance.

The orchestra of the Hotel Clarendon furnished rare and delightful music and as many as cared to do so, "tripped the light fantastic toe."

There were many beautiful gowns in evidence.

At a late hour the guests departed, every one expressing complete satisfaction with the hospitality and service extended by the Hotel Clarendon and the result of the evening's festivities.

Americanization Day Observed by The Palmetto Club

Improvements in educational administration, legislative matters of interest to women and the general thought of Americanization, were features of a number of addresses at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon of the Palmetto club, which was largely attended by the membership, as well as by prominent women's club workers in the state.

Mrs. W. S. Jennings, first vice president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke at length on the many legislative matters which are at present commanding the attention of the national congress, of interest to women, and was optimistic that the measures would receive the attention which women over the nation are demanding.

Miss Elizabeth Skinner, vice president at large of the G. F. W. C., gave a most interesting discourse on educational methods employed in some states, and made an urgent appeal for the election of a woman to the position of state superintendent of schools, as well as county school officials, that the viewpoint of the mothers, end of the children might be more easily arrived at. That all school positions should be kept out of politics was the gist of the addresses, which also included a plea for a state censorship board for moving picture films.

Mrs. Edgar Stillman Kelley, who gave a most interesting illustrated musical at the clubhouse this morning, also spoke, as did Mrs. Brown, of Deland.

The musical program of the afternoon was rendered by Charles McDonald, the tenor, accompanied by M. P. Cornwall, greatly pleasing the audience by the excellent interpretation of the songs which were given during the program.

Regrets for their absence were received from Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the president-elect, Mrs. W. R. O'Neal of Orlando, Mrs. J. W. McCollum, state president of the F. E. W. C., Miss Williams and others.

Many Offenders In Police Court Swell City Fund

City funds for the operation of the police force were considerably increased this morning, as was the gang of laborers on city work following the conviction of a large number of offenders in the city police court on various charges.

Edgar Duncan, charged with assault and battery, and an additional charge of carrying concealed weapons, was the biggest contributor to the fund. He paid $50 on the first charge and $20 on the second, following a fracas in Midway last evening in which Henry Bagley was the complainant, both being colored.

Bagley charged that Duncan hit him over the head with a revolver, exhibiting marks of the battle, and the pistol was offered as evidence, showing a bent barrel as the result of the impact on Bagley's head. It was agreed that the gun was damaged more than the head, however. Duncan was willing to pay for his pleasure. Following the battle, Duncan shot into the air to frighten off Bagley, and succeeded, as Henry, it is claimed, only stopped running in time to reach police court this morning.

A fight between two dusky hued damsels of colored town and the brother of one of the female fighters, in which a razor took a conspicuous part, was aired this morning. All denied ever having seen the weapon, but Beatrice Holmes was sure that someone cut her up in the melee. A witness testified that while she didn't see the cutting, one of the contestants "made a curious move." They each paid $10 and costs to the court.

Johnny McCoy, colored, charged with pilfering a pair of trousers from a colored dressing case of Midway paid $25 and costs for the pair, which he acknowledged he later sold for $5 each.

J. W. Johnson, white, was fined $25 on a charge of petty pilfering, while Elliott LaFone and Fred Cole, both colored, were assessed fines of $25 for gambling, being part of the African golf shooters arranged Wednesday.

Several motorists paid for the pleasure of running a car without lights, including C. E. Davison, "Miss Mary Face," Willard Knapp and Frank Roberts, while the $10 bond of Arthur Withee was estranged and a capias issued as he failed to appear on a charge of speeding.

Friday, January 7, is Greek Christmas!

Following still the old Julian calendar, the Greeks are delayed thirteen days in their celebration of the holy anniversary.

Due to the fact that the earth takes a fraction of a day longer than 365 to complete the circle about the sun, the old Julian year of that number of days had to be adjusted.

Another adjustment will be necessary this century in spite of the fact that "leap year" was inserted every four years to compensate for the difference.

So the Julian calendar gives the Greek maid in America the advantage over her "melting pot" sisters of other races. Her lover must produce twice a year for the same occasion viz: Christmas. Whether or not this works with birthdays as well is a subject for further investigation but the system has its advantages even if he pardon hearts of the various personalities who do not recognize it.

The few Greeks in Daytona will observe the day, with fitting festive and religious ceremonies in their homes.

Asked about the Irish question, Miss Sparkes said:

"That is a question with which America should not interfere for they do not understand the situation and I note that most of Americans agree with me. There is no satisfying the Irish. Were England today to grant their demand, it would be but a short time until they would again be struggling. It has been said not more truly that the only contented Irishman is a dead Irishman." This is Hartung's question and she will have to take care of it as best she can."

Regarding the suffrage question, Miss Sparkes said:

"I have never been enthusiastic for the vote for myself. I believe there is plenty of work for women to do in places that are not accessible to men. However, I have not given the question very much consideration, but I am very much opposed to suffrage and had it not been for this militant spirit the women of England would have secured the right of franchise sooner. The women of England were so wonderful during the war, and of course not only the women of England, but the women of the world, that the ballot could not longer be denied them."

Continuing, Miss Sparkes said:

"I certainly adore the people of America. They are so cordial and hospitable and everywhere I meet with only kindness. In England the people are very reserved but this is also more to shyness than anything else. But once you have made a friend of an Englishman you may be sure that you will always have a friend."

Of Enrico Caruso she said:

"Caruso's trouble is not of the vocal cords and I expect to again hear him sing and at his very best. There is but one Caruso and it is folly to compare any other tenor with him. Were he to be unable to again sing it would be a great loss to the world."

Miss Sparkes says the beach here is more wonderful than anything of the kind she has ever seen and she greatly enjoys a spin upon it.

With Miss Sparkes is her accompanist, Miss Louise Lindner, an attractive young woman of rare accomplishment. She has been with Miss Sparkes during the latter's concert work and she pronounces her one of the best pianists that she has ever worked with. This is also Miss Lindner's first visit to Florida and she is very happy because of the opportunity to visit

HOTEL CLARENDON

Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. White of New York City arrived on Wednesday to be present at the opening of the Hotel Clarendon. Their summer home is in Brewster, near New York, and the doctor practices his profession in the city. Because of the exceptionally fine weather Dr. and Mrs. White did not leave their New York home until late in December, when they traveled leisurely to Florida visiting en route friends in Savannah, Ga., and in Jacksonville. They spent a week or so at Cocoa, Fla., the center of the orange growing district. Dr. White was the house physician of the Clarendon last year and made many friends during his sojourn. He holds an eminent and distinguished position in his professional world.

When asked by a News representative what his opinion was of the beach as a place of healthful climatic condition the doctor said:

"I hardly feel qualified to make a decisive statement regarding health condition here, as this is only my second season, and last year was an unusually disagreeable one because of the continued rain. Whenever there was a blizzard in the North there was rain here, which interfered to quite an extent with the pleasures usually afforded by the place. This year the climate seems perfect. This winter in the North up to this time has been exceedingly agreeable."

Regarding the so-called crime wave in New York the doctor said:

"Any crime wave that may be in New York at this time is due to the lax and careless police system. Chicago has the criminal condition under the best control of any city of which I know, and her police protection is in the best condition. There have been the criminals checked with a card system and as well every patrolman in the city. In this way if a patrolman's district shows unusual criminality he is called to account for it and a closer watch is kept upon him and his district. In New York they cannot expect to keep crime and criminals within bounds if their best and most efficient officials are stationed out at the Bronx and other outlying districts. Naturally in that case the downtown business district will suffer."

When it was cited to the doctor that in many of the great murder mysteries no one was arrested or punished, he said:

"While that is true it is not the fault of the police officials. What I complain of is the continual robbing and burglarizing in the business section. It ought to be easy for a well organized force to lessen these offenses very materially. Any one who is familiar with New York as it is today in these respects and as it was several years ago will note the difference. Four years ago under the former regime New York criminal condition was dealt with about as Chicago's is today, though the system was not quite so complete and well-organized."

Dr. White said he had confidence in the incoming administration; that the Republicans had promised much and that he believed that they would endeavor to keep their promises and that a sincere effort would be made to cut down the expenditures of the government.

When Dr. White was asked what he thought about votes for women he said:

"I think the principal thing it will do will be to add wisdomness to the already widely vote. I am not against the women voting, but I think there should be a qualification for all voters, both men and women. The intelligent people should vote. I believe many women are indifferent to the right of franchise. A couple of years ago I inquired of a friend of mine in California whether or not his wife voted, to which he replied: 'Yes, indeed, Mrs. D. votes because I see to it that she does, but none of her friends do.' I expect that will be the condition in the other states. The women who are housewives are usually too busy to give much consideration to voting, and the society women are too engaged socially or too lazy to bother with it. Jury duty is one thing that women are going to rebel against, and men are going to be determined that they shall perform their duty along this line, and in many of the states the women are already being called to jury service. It is a duty that most men dislike, for it takes so much of their valuable time, and they will not be willing to let the women out on this."

Dr. and Mrs. White are nicely located in Clarendon cottage No. 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Simms of Jacksonville entertained Col. and Mrs. Lyman T. Haye of St. Louis, Mo., and W. E. Haney of Jacksonville at the opening luncheon at the Clarendon.

Mrs. E. Newman of New York has arrived at the Clarendon.

Mrs. George A. Whiting and Mrs. Jennie Scotts of Neenah, Wis., are at the Clarendon for the season.

RIDGEWOOD HOTEL

Many old time friends are expected within the month, and life at the Ridgewood will assume its usual gaiety. Col. and Mrs. H. C. Noble of New Britain, Conn., are expected to arrive about the 15th of the month. They have for many years been spending their winters at this popular hotel and are well known to the management and all the old-time guests, and their arrival is eagerly awaited. They have a large circle of friends in the city as well as at the Ridgewood. Col. Noble is one of the best of entertainers and is always the heart of good fellowship and a leader in everything that tends to make life happier and brighter for those who come within the influence of the good cheer that radiates from his personality.

Dr. J. E. Rawlins of Daytona will again this season be the house physician at the Ridgewood. As a member of the medical profession he stands well at the head and has a congenial personality that makes him a favorite with his clientele.

Charles Krenfli and family of Chicago spent a day or so at the Ridgewood early in the week. They were motoring and left Daytona Friday for a trip down the East Coast. They expressed themselves as much pleased with Daytona and the climate here. They may return later in the season for another visit at the Ridgewood.

George E. Thompson of Miami was a visitor in Daytona during the week looking after business matters, and made the Ridgewood his headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis N. Dibble of Chicago are at the Ridgewood for another season. They are annual visitors here because they consider it the finest resort in Florida.

Mrs. Woodbury, Mrs. Ella Childs and Dr. J. M. Clarke, all of Burlington, Vt., are at the Ridgewood for the season.

E. J. O'Donnell of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived at the Ridgewood early in the week.

Johnson & McKinnon's stock letter says: "In the midst of the war it is encouraging to find one or two corporations, the U. S. In a paper there is a most interesting suggestion on a coming merger of the Pennsylvania and New Haven. The point being made that the net earnings of the Pennsylvania to New Haven would bring the total within the legal limits. I see change in market conditions. I believe we are in the midst of a period of falling prices and would buy stocks all reactions."

PARIS WOULD BAN
AMERICAN DANCES

(Newspaper Enterprise Association)

PARIS, Jan. 7.—Paris passes the buck back to America.

What for?

It's naughtiness.

Paris says it has to be naughty to be up to its "rep."

But Paris, you say, was naughty before America was discovered.

Quite true. But it's naughtier now. America gets the blame for boasting naughtiness to the comparative degree. What by?

None other than the Parisian dancing masters.

They're engaged in a little scheme excluding American dances.

Like the skinny.

And cat step.

And rocking chair tilt.

But so long as Parisian dance halls play jazz the American dances go strong.

So the dance masters are starting a tradition propaganda against jazz. And the consequence is that in cafés and dance halls you hear more old-fashioned waltz music.
